

NAADAC Leadership Moves Forward on Shaping the Association's Strategy

July 16, 2010

For Immediate Release

Contact Donovan Kuehn

dkuehn@naadac.org or 703.741.7686

ALEXANDRIA, Va. - The NAADAC Executive Committee has adopted a new strategy for managing the needs of the association. The "four pillars" approach will ensure that NAADAC members remain the focus of NAADAC's efforts to improve the association and the services it delivers.

"The four pillars plan is a change in direction for our association; but, it is a change that NAADAC's leadership believes will increase our effectiveness and help to grow the Association, said Cynthia Moreno Tuohy, NAADAC Executive Director. "By focusing on the core principles of NAADAC and ensuring that we focus on those attributes, we will best serve our members and the profession as a whole."

Please click here to read more on the detailed plan.