The NAADAC Approved Education Provider program highlights a continuing education provider’s commitment to quality education and dedication to excellence. This guide lists NAADAC Approved Education Providers that offer training and education for addiction and other helping professionals who are seeking to become certified/licensed or who want to maintain their current certification/license at the national or state level.

The NAADAC Approved Education Provider emblem signifies that an organization has voluntarily opened its educational programs to examination by an independent body for content applicability to state and national certification standards. Programs included in this guide have been approved by the National Certification Commission for Addiction Professionals (NCC AP). This rigorous review process ensures that learners receive a consistent, reliable and quality learning experience that is applicable to their careers and advances their understanding of addiction-related issues.

Those participating in programs offered by NAADAC Approved Education Providers are assured that the continuing education credits (CEs) provided for each course will be accepted toward national credentialing by the National Certification Commission for Addiction Professionals, as well as many of the individual state licensing/certification bodies. For convenience in your online search, NAADAC Approved Education Providers are categorized by state, type and alphabetically.

If you have any questions about the acceptance of NAADAC Approved Education Providers for your particular state licensing/certification body or if you wish to make a change to this Directory, please send an e-mail to providers@naadac.org or call 800.548.0497.
CONTENTS
For your convenience and quick reference, NAADAC’s Approved Education Providers are listed below alphabetically, by state and by category of Provider. A detailed description of each Provider, including services offered and contact information, is provided on the corresponding page number, if available.

- ADAPT has been providing help and support for recovery in Southern Oregon for over 30 years. Literally thousands of people have been given the opportunity to reclaim their lives and the lives of their families by participating in our programs. However it does not matter how good a substance abuse program is. Unless a person wants to change... they will not. We feel that the largest part of the treatment process is providing the most current information to people so they can make the most informed choices about substance use. If they decide they want to change then our task becomes helping nurture that desire and reinforcing the motivation to change.

American Bar Association Commission on Lawyer Assistance Programs’ mission is to assure that every lawyer, judge and law student has access to professional help to effectively address alcoholism, substance abuse and mental health concerns. CoLAP assists and supports state and local lawyer assistance programs and bar associations in the development, advancement and maintenance of methods that provide effective solutions for recovery of and treatment for judges, lawyers and law students. Alcoholism, substance abuse and mental health problems affect a disproportionate number of professionals. Reports have estimated that while 10 percent of the general population has problems with alcohol abuse, the number increases from between 15 to 18 percent for the lawyer population. 312-988-5717

American Group Psychotherapy Association (AGPA)’s continuing education programs offer participants from diverse clinical disciplines the opportunity to advance their knowledge and skills in group psychotherapy and related fields. Outcomes derived from AGPA programs include: development of new clinical approaches, refinement of therapeutic methods, exchange of clinical and empirical knowledge with peers, exposure to current research and theory and the opportunity to participate in a peer support network. AGPA’s target audience is mental health professionals currently working with groups, as well as those in training who wish to be kept abreast of new developments and expand the scope of their clinical practices. AGPA’s goal is to facilitate and to provide the highest quality continuing education programs to aid the practitioner in updating his/her knowledge and skills with current and new developments in methods, practice, theory and research. 212-477-2677

The American Probation and Parole Association (APPA) is at the vanguard in exploring issues relevant to the field of community-based corrections. APPA provides training and technical assistance, clearinghouse services and advocacy. APPA is an international association composed of individuals from the United States and Canada actively involved with probation, parole and community-based corrections, in both adult and juvenile sectors. All levels of government including local, state/provincial, legislative, executive, judicial and federal agencies are counted among its constituents. APPA’s mission is to serve, challenge and empower our members and constituents by educating, communicating and training; advocating and influencing; acting as a resource...
American Schools Association was founded in 1914. Since 1990, the organization has offered continuing education on a home study basis for professionals throughout the United States. The courses offered are approved by a variety of state agencies and private certifying agencies, covering nurses, certified counselors, marriage and family counselors/therapists, licensed social workers, rehabilitation professionals, case managers and substance abuse counselors. It also markets seven rehabilitation videotapes for training purposes.

American Society of Group Psychotherapy and Psychodrama (ASGPP) was founded in 1942 by J.L. Moreno, MD (1889-1974). It is the pioneer membership organization in group psychotherapy and continues to be a source and inspiration for ongoing developments in group psychotherapy, psychodrama and sociometry. The organization’s goals for group psychotherapy, psychodrama and sociometry are: to encourage and promote professional training, to foster national and international cooperation, to promote the spread and fruitful application of the theories and methods, to disseminate information, to promote research and to maintain a code of ethics. Psychodrama employs guided dramatic action to explore problems and issues, and sociometry is the scientific measurement of social relationships in groups. Both methods were developed by J.L. Moreno and can be used in a range of venues from clinical and corporate to education and community. A national conference is held annually.

Anger Management Training Institute, The offers practical, common sense, effective programs to help anger addicts break the cycle of rage. Rather than focusing on psychotherapeutic processes that can sometimes involve months or years of counseling, we clinically tested Anger Buster techniques provide clients with the skills and insights they need to begin changing their angry behavior patterns during the very first session. The Anger Management Training Institute offers a variety of courses to assist those with anger issues in confronting and controlling their anger. In each of these courses, participants will be guided in assessing their relationship to anger, provided with a set of tools and strategies to control their anger and assisted in designing a recovery program that will begin producing results immediately.

Assertive Community Treatment Association promotes, develops and supports high quality Assertive Community Treatment (ACT) services that improve the lives of people with serious and persistent mental illness. Since 1984, an annual conference dedicated to the promotion and development of Assertive Community Treatment has taken place. Over the years, thousands of ACT professionals and people with mental illness and their families have participated in this training and continuing education event. In 1997, the Assertive Community Treatment Association, Inc. was initially founded to coordinate, develop and promote the annual ACT conference.

Byron Katie International is a residential nine-day training in inquiry. It teaches participants how to live the inquiry process (Inquiry Based Stress Reduction) and how to integrate this form of cognitive restructuring into their professional career in order to support their clients’ success. During the nine-day training, participants engage in a variety of exercises in the context of modules designed to build on each other and provide a cumulative personal experience with The Work. The curriculum of The School is primarily experiential. Participants learn The Work through facilitating it for themselves and others. A wide range of exercises are introduced with handouts, power point, clearly explained and demonstrated by Byron Katie and staff. Exercises and demonstrations are followed by lively discussions and question and answer periods. Many graduates of The School for The Work are therapists and/or addiction counselors who have reported profound effects in clients who have experienced The Work during treatment sessions. Upon completion of The School, participants will be able to expertly facilitate The Work and add this powerful complementary psychological component to their treatments, thereby directly enhancing their relationships with clients.

Calvary Addiction Recovery Center has specialized in both traditional and faith-based recovery since 1964. Treatment is available to men and women ages 18 and older. Calvary offers a full continuum of care including detoxification, residential, intensive outpatient and partial hospitalization. Calvary offers an additional Young Adult Program, which offers treatment services unique to the adult aged 18–25. Individual, group and family therapy are all included in the treatment experience. Calvary’s program addresses the emotional, physical and spiritual aspects of addiction and problem gambling, setting the stage for long-term recovery and restored family life. If substance abuse or problem gambling has a grip on you or someone you love, do not let another day go by without getting help. There is truly a hope for those who are suffering and we can help you take the first step.

Chemical Dependency Training Consortium of the Northwest is a non-profit continuing education organization established over 20 years ago. CDTC serves southwest Washington and northwest Oregon (Portland metropolitan and surrounding areas). Our purpose is to provide low-cost, high-quality continuing education training for the staff, interns and volunteers of member agencies, non-members and students. We have served as a primary source of the most up-to-date research for professionals in the field of addictions treatment as well as other significant social issues concerning addiction professionals. Technology in the field of addictions treatment, by its very nature, demands that we continuously update and expand our own knowledge base, and — equally important — that we actively implement new treatment strategies that aid counselors, chemical dependency professionals and administrators representing a wide range of agencies working in this field.

Chesapeake Health Education Program, Inc. has been providing state-of-the-art continuing education events for a variety of healthcare providers for over 15 years. The organization strives to be a leader in the development and delivery of superior human services. At Chesnut Health Systems, we strive to deliver high quality and innovative services. We value strategic growth to improve organizational performance in order to be the leader in our industry. We offer a wide array of services including: chemical dependency treatment for adults and adolescents; counseling and mental health services; services for the chronic mentally ill workplace; services for both domestic and international workforce; credit counseling; problem gambling services; early intervention and prevention programming; and an extensive research, training and publications component called Lighthouse Institute.

Children and Family Futures, Inc. is staffed by experts with specialized knowledge on improving collaborative practice and policy among the substance abuse, child welfare, Tribal child welfare and family judicial systems. CFF staff members are available to address federal, state, Tribal and local governments’ technical assistance needs and provide materials and other resources.

Circle of Recovery, Inc., a leader of education and training services in Georgia and the southeast, provides training, education, conference planning and consultation on addiction. We provide services in and around the state and at local and national conferences and are available for onsite consultation. A variety of courses are offered, and specialized courses can be developed to meet your particular needs. Circle of Recovery, Inc. has offices in Decatur and Savannah and is easily accessible via Interstate 20 and 285 and Highway 16.

Clarity Child Guidance Center We exist to transform the lives of children and families. Our treatment centers provide children ages 3–17 in San Antonio and South Texas with compassionate mental health care. Our inpatient and outpatient programs include a range of services including crisis stabilization, psychiatric evaluations, and ongoing therapy. Currently, we have the region’s largest staff of children’s mental health professionals at our two family-friendly campuses and several satellite locations. As a United Way agency, we provide greatly needed mental health care for children who could not otherwise afford to receive treatment.

Children and Family Futures, Inc. is a non-profit continuing education organization established over 20 years ago. Our purpose is to provide low-cost, high-quality continuing education training for the staff, interns and volunteers of member agencies, non-members and students. We have served as a primary source of the most up-to-date research for professionals in the field of addictions treatment as well as other significant social issues concerning addiction professionals. Technology in the field of addictions treatment, by its very nature, demands that we continuously update and expand our own knowledge base, and — equally important — that we actively implement new treatment strategies that aid counselors, chemical dependency professionals and administrators representing a wide range of agencies working in this field.

College at Brockport-State University of New York is a true learning community in which students, faculty and staff all contribute to and celebrate the success of others. Every student is recognized as a dynamic, multi-dimensional individual rich with promise. Through the many ways there are to learn, contribute and excel here, we help to awaken the scholar, the athlete, the artist and the entrepreneur within. Our students are busy — on campus, in the community, and around the world — being active scholars and engaged citizens.

Colombo Plan Asian Centre for Certification and Education of Addiction Professionals, The Colonial Management Group, LP runs methadone treatment centers to help addicts overcome addiction to heroin, opium and opiate-based prescriptions. We use methadone treatment as a way to relieve the craving for heroin, and opiate-based prescription drugs (Dilaudid, Percodan, Percocet, Propoxyphene). Our goal is to treat our patients with dignity and respect in each phase of their treatment experience. We focus the work in our clinics on managing the disease and strive hard to improve our patients’ quality of life. This involves implementing the most current research findings in our treatment of our patients. Because of our concern for the community as a whole, we seek to be a resource by educating the public on the disease of addiction and advocating the value of treatment in improving the lives of the people struggling with this addiction.

Colorado Behavioral Healthcare Council (CBHC) is a non-profit 501(c)3 membership organization that represents Colorado’s statewide network of community behavioral healthcare providers inclusive of 17 community mental health centers (MHCS), two specialty clinics and five behavioral health organizations (BHOs). CBHC member organizations contract with the State of Colorado and work together to provide comprehensive behavioral and psychiatric services to defined geographic areas of the state. CBHC provides a network of skilled therapeutic and community resources to meet the mental health need of all Colorado residents and their families so that all can have equal and full access to a quality of life. Throughout Colorado, thousands of individuals once isolated and disabled by mental illness, are now leading productive, satisfying lives.

George DuWors is a substance abuse professional who provides Motivation-for-Maintenance Workshops that show participants how to build client motivation from the distinctive thinking experienced at the moment an alcoholic/ addict decides to resume use. Participants draw on their own experience of “wishful thinking” and/or “expletive thinking” to understand and integrate the tools and concepts. These unique workshops seamlessly integrate Motivational Enhancement, Stages of Change and Twelve Step Insights and principles. The two one-day workshops, one for each type of thinking, have excited participants across the U.S. and Canada, as well as in the U.K. Workshop facilitator has a flash drive and will travel and is author of White Knuckles and Wishful Thinking – Learning From the Moment of Relapse in Alcoholism and Other Addictions.

Hazarelden Graduate School of Addiction Studies offers a Master of Arts in Addiction Counseling, a Master of Arts in Addiction Counseling: Professional Practice and a Certificate in Addiction Counseling. The Master of Arts in Addiction Counseling and the Certificate in Addiction Counseling are completed in one year. The Master of Arts in Addiction Counseling: Professional Practice is completed in four semesters. All programs are offered onsite at our Center City, Minn., campus. The Masters of Arts in Addiction Counseling program prepares students with a foundation for leadership, while the Certificate prepares entry-level counselors. The Master of Arts in Addiction Counseling: Professional Practice is based on a scholar-practitioner model that addresses the spectrum of addiction, human adjustment and mental health complications across the life span. With advances in evidence-based practice, counseling competence needs to address acute intervention, reduction of human distress, initiation of new adaptive behaviors, and continued support for sustained change. Graduates achieve clinical competence, which enables them to practice throughout the continuum of care, improve practice based on research, and effectively address clinical complexity. The Hazelden Graduate School of Addiction Studies offers students an integrated program of academic preparation and clinical experience from the first semester through graduation. This unique approach prepares graduates for the realities of addiction treatment and introduces them to the issues, challenges and opportunities within the field.

Hepatitis Foundation International is dedicated to motivating individuals to protect themselves and avoid activities that can cause liver-threatening diseases such as hepatitis, HIV and other blood borne pathogens, to assess their own risk behaviors, to adopt healthier lifestyles behaviors and to seek medical evaluation of the status of their liver. The absence of information about liver health, hepatitis and effective substance abuse prevention programs has been a major factor in the increase in these major health concerns. To accomplish our mission, HFI provides education, training programs and materials for the public, patients, health educators and medical professionals to teach everyone about the importance of the liver and how drugs and viruses can damage its ability to keep them alive and healthy. We also support hepatitis research, provide a patient telephone support network, provide a toll-free hotline, maintain a database of hepatitis support groups and host a website dedicated to liver care and hepatitis information.

Intervention Specialists, LLC provides training of addiction counseling technology that puts the family at the center of recovery, treating and healing the family together. With the Integrated Family Intervention Strategy, we train interventionists to get drug users into treatment as guided by research-grounded concepts articulating the integration of strategies responsive to the needs of each family and drug user. This complements our family-centered practice technology for addiction recovery. Through a NAADAC-approved advanced practicum process, we train addiction counselors to provide family-centered treatment from assessment through aftercare. Easily integrated into and complementary of any ASAM-level of addiction treatment, the family-centered addiction recovery process supports the family transformation for nurturing and generating its own capacity for healing each member. Practicum hours and supervision are also approved for Washington state marriage and family therapist licensure.

NFL Program for Substances of Abuse/ERMD Associates was established to provide administrative support to the Medical Director and clinical staff of the National Football League Program for Substances of Abuse in their efforts to evaluate, refer and monitor the treatment of players entered into the Program. Services are provided by a network of psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers and addictions counselors with experience in the assessment, intervention, treatment and aftercare of individuals with substance use/abuse problems. In addition to their primary work with the NFL Program for Substances of Abuse, the principals of ERM Associates have provided consultation and training services to the NFL Player Development Department, the NFL Rookie Symposium, individual NFL teams, NCAA football teams, the NBA, the NHL, and various public agencies and private organizations.

NIATx is a pioneering improvement collaborative that works with behavioral health organizations across the country. We teach a simple process improvement model developed under the leadership of Dr. David Gustafson, a professor of industrial and systems engineering. NIATx is part of the Center for Health Enhancement System Studies (CHESS) at the University of Wisconsin–Madison. The NIATx ACTION (Adopting Changes to Improve Outcomes Now) Campaign offers providers free tools to transform their business practices and improve the quality of care they deliver. NIATx also offers a variety of training and professional development opportunities.

Refuge–A Healing Place, The is an adult residential extended care addiction rehab facility located in Marion County, central Fla., specializing in addictions and PTSD resolution that’s based on the premise of healing with care, spirituality and gentleness. The addiction rehab services at The Refuge are designed for those whose unresolved trauma leads them to relapse. The Refuge is for those whose pain feels insurmountable. The Refuge was founded on being able to provide our clients with the restoration of hope, recovery and healing. The Refuge is an adult extended care, 12-step oriented, drug rehab and alcohol rehab program that takes a holistic approach to reestablishing the integrity of body, mind and spirit. Considering that addictions are nearly always a failed solution to underlying problems, we know that merely identifying a problem is not enough to live in the solution. We ask that clients make a 90-day commitment, as we have designed our rehab program to be gradually intensive.

Regional Alcohol and Drug Abuse Counselor Training Program (RADACT) strives to increase the educational level of individuals entering, or working in, the substance abuse and behavioral health counseling field by providing courses to meet the various degrees of experience and expertise found within our target populations. RADACT, founded in 1992, is a nonprofit organization dedicated to providing training opportunities to individuals beginning their journey towards chemical dependency and behavioral health certification, clinical supervision and administration. RADACT provides, coordinates and delivers training throughout Alaska, provides distance delivery courses, and collaborates on major training events, such as the Annual School on Addictions and Behavioral Health. RADACT also offers a three-week intensive training academy each year.

Relationship Training Institute (RTI) is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization, established in 1986 by David B. Vista Taos Renewal Center assures individualized care that only a smaller facility can provide for you. Since 1994, Vista Taos Renewal Center’s Primary Treatment Program and the Casa Feliz Extended Care Program have been providing exceptional services for those seeking help with alcohol, drug and other addictive behaviors and the various co-occurring disorders associated with addiction. Located in northern New Mexico, near the southern edge of the Rocky Mountains, our residential rehab treatment center unites the power of the majestic landscape with our treatment programs. We are within miles of Taos Mountain, the centuries old native village of Taos Pueblo, and the painted deserts of Georgia O’Keefe’s artistic works. Our program includes outings to these inspiring landscapes as an enhancement to our foundational 12-step treatment program. Specializing in the treatment of addictions, the hallmark of our residential recovery center is our patient-centered, individualized program philosophy.

Apply for the NAADAC Approved Education Provider Program

The program offers three (3) flexible options to organizations and individual trainers who wish to apply for Providership status:

- OPTION 1
  Approval of unlimited training for a period of two (2) years.
  Description: This option applies to organizations, educational institutions or individuals who are experienced training providers and offer three (3) or more workshops/conferences/courses/independent study programs per two-year period. This includes a single program that will be presented multiple times. The fee for this level of approval is $400 for two (2) years, $200 of which is a non-refundable processing fee.

- OPTION 2
  Provisional Provider Status
  Description: This option is designed for individuals or organizations who have never offered educational trainings before. Examples of eligible programs would be those that are just initiating training as part of their organizational mission or more established programs that have not previously collected participant evaluation forms. This status is granted for a one-year period. During this year, two (2) events will be audited. At the end of the year, the provisional provider must submit a report on the events offered during the previous 12 months. The form for this brief annual report will be sent to providers once they are approved. Submission of this report and successful completion of both audits will allow you or your organization to apply for permanent status via either Option 1 or 3. The fee for this level of approval is $200 for one (1) year, $100 of which is a non-refundable processing fee.

- OPTION 3
  Approval for a single training event
  Description: This option applies to organizations, educational institutions, or individuals who are experienced training providers and are offering only one (or are requesting approval for only one) training event; for example, an organization’s annual conference. An independent study course is not considered a single training event. The approval status is only active for three (3) months after the event date to allow for issuing or reissuing of certificates. The fee for this level of approval is $100, all of which is a non-refundable processing fee.

Benefits of being a part of the NAADAC Approved Education Provider Program

Your provider status will identify your program as meeting the nationally approved standards of education developed for the addiction counseling profession. In addition, your program participants are assured that the contact hours or CEUs provided will be accepted toward national credentialing by the NAADAC Certification Commission for Addiction Professionals (NCC AP), was well as be accepted by many of the state licensing/certification bodies.

Additional benefits include:

- A FREE listing in NAADAC’s annual Directory of Education and Training published online and distributed at NAADAC events throughout the year
- A FREE listing in our interactive map that includes a link to your home page
- FREE features of Approved Provider training events in NAADAC’s weekly educational e-blasts
- Use of the “Proud NAADAC Approved Education Provider” logo on your website and in your publications
- Ability to post your events FREE on the NAADAC Calendar of Events
- Discounts on other NAADAC marketing opportunities
- Eligibility to become a NAADAC Organizational Member at a discounted price through the NAADAC Premier Program
- 10% discount on exhibit booth space at NAADAC conferences
- Added prestige and recognition from being a part of the Provider Program sponsored by the nation’s largest addiction focused professional association
- Provided in two convenient formats: two years unlimited training for $400 or one workshop for $100

Training content must be current and designed to include recent developments in the subject of instruction. Independent study courses must be updated regularly. Upon renewal of your provider status, you will be required to submit documentation that offerings have been updated.

Instructional objectives are to be stated in behavioral terms. The objectives must denote measurable attributes observable in the student completing the program. The objectives are to explain what proficiency the continuing education program participants should be able to demonstrate. Instructor’s goals are NOT behavioral objectives. For example: “To introduce the student to the community health system” is a goal of the instructor, not an instructional objective. An example of a behavioral objective is “Upon completion of this program, the counselor will be able to:

- explain the role of community education related to the effects of drug usage;
- assess the drug knowledge status of county employee groups;
- identify and evaluate the drug and alcohol education needs within the county system.”

Independent study courses must include an exam to evaluate students’ completion of the course and learning objectives.

Training Requirements for NAADAC Approved Education Provider Courses

Regardless of the Provider Education status you or your organization is approved for, the training content of an Approved Education Provider course must be relevant to the work of addiction professionals. Potential providers are required to demonstrate this by the description of the course, goals and objectives, and the outline of the content how the course relates to alcohol/drug counseling and treatment. Courses must be in one of the following areas:

- Theoretical content related to scientific knowledge and/or the application of scientific knowledge to practice in the field of addiction counseling and/or mental health; and/or
- Content related to direct and indirect patient/client care. Examples include group and individual counseling, family dynamics and counseling, mental health diagnoses, co-occurring disorders, HIV/AIDS/Hepatitis C, case management, documentation, ethics, etc.; and/or
- Content related to administration, management, education, research, working within managed care systems, developing a private practice, or other functional areas of addiction practice relating to indirect patient/client contact.

Examples of content that would not be acceptable include:

- Parenting or other programs that are designed for lay people.
- Liberal arts courses in music, art, philosophy, and others unrelated to the practice of addiction counseling.
- Orientation programs designed to familiarize employees with the policies and procedures of an institution.

All educational events under the Approved Education Provider program must meet the following standards:

If you or your organization would like to apply to become a NAADAC Approved Education Provider, please visit our website (www.naadac.org/education/approved-education-providers) for more information and to download application materials.
