Description: The addiction profession has a strong foundation of peer involvement. In fact, the earliest addiction professionals were the first peer recovery coaches informed by Alcoholics Anonymous. However, recent shifts within the workforce has led to some discomfort and questions about where the newly arising peer recovery coaches will “fit” into the overall services of the addiction treatment and recovery spectrum.

This webinar will provide a comparison between a modern addiction counselor and peer recovery coach in regards to current roles, scope of peer practice, leadership development, ethical considerations and supervision needs. The presenter will also discuss different models of peer recovery supports, including details about how they are delivered, by whom, where, and reimbursement.

Learning Objectives: As a result of participating in this webinar, you will be able to:

- Define Peer Recovery Coaches – different definitions, different titles and tasks
- Identify at least three key events for peer recovery coaches in the history of the addiction profession
- Identify at least three ethical considerations
- List at least three elements key to a scope of peer practice
- Identify the various positions on the developmental ladder for peer recovery coaches
- State at least two supervision considerations
