AAPNY, Association of Addiction Professionals of New York is excited about this year's annual conference, Compassion, Hope and Recovery.

We plan to feature a variety of topics including clinical practice, criminal justice, music and recovery, and acupuncture and addiction.

This year we are proud to also feature Susan Rook, former CNN anchor and Communications Director for Faces and Voices of Recovery, a Washington, DC, group advocating for treatment of addiction. We also hope you will join us for our session on grassroots political action to learn more about how each one of us can advocate for our profession and those we serve.

This year, we are also partnering with our national organization, NAADAC, the Association for Addiction Professionals. NAADAC will hold a one-day pre-conference on co-occurring disorders, buprenorphine treatment and will also have workshops on clinical practice and the issues impacting treatment.

We are anticipating a great conference and great year for addiction professionals as we expand our knowledge and practice of the profession.

I look forward to seeing you there.

— John Pietropaolo,
President AAPNY

AAPNY Mission

AAPNY's mission is to support the interests and professionalism of addiction counselors in New York State through wellness, advocacy, training, and mediation on ethical concerns. Our goal is to strengthen our field to ensure the highest level of compassionate care of those individuals, and their loved ones, who suffer from the disease of addiction.

AAPNY Conference Features

Keynote speaker will be former CNN co-anchor and founder of CNN's show Talk-Back Live, Susan Rook. Ms. Rook is now the Director of Communications for Faces and Voices of Recovery, and a recovery and advocacy group located in Washington, DC.

A legislative luncheon will also be held on current legislative agenda and how they impact the addiction profession on state, local and national levels. To date, Congresswoman Carolyn McCarthy has expressed personal interest in attending. Invitations have been extended to Suffolk County Executive Robert Gaffney and Governor George Pataki.

ATTENTION NURSES!

AAPNY will host a national certification exam on Saturday, April 5th.

AAPNY will also provide CEUs for nurses interested in the CBHNA (Consortium of Behavioral Health Nurses and Associates, Inc.) certification.

"This is an exciting time for AAPNY and NAADAC because it is bringing together several groups of individuals with a common interest in addictions."

— Roberta Taggart
member of NAADAC/AAPNY and CBHNA
