To: The Attendees of the National Association for Addiction Professionals 2013 Conference

GREETINGS:

I am pleased to extend my warmest regards to the attendees of the National Association for Addiction Professionals (NAADAC) 2013 conference. On behalf of the State of Georgia, it is a pleasure to be a part of your event.

Please allow me to welcome your distinguished guests, addiction counselors, educators, addiction-focused health care professionals, and other attendees. I commend the NAADAC for their dedication to prevention, intervention, quality treatment, and recovery support. Your members help individuals on a daily basis work towards a life of recovery and continue a life substance-free. Addiction and substance abuse rob our citizens and their loved ones of happy, fulfilling, and productive lives. Your effort in combating these dire situations is truly appreciated. I encourage you to take this opportunity to benefit from networking, discussions, and keynote speakers presented to you as you work to make a greater impact on those who need treatment for a substance use disorder.

I commend the Georgia Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities, Division of Addictive Diseases, the Georgia Addiction Counselors Association, and the Georgia Council on Substance Abuse for partnering with the NAADAC to organize this conference. I send my best wishes for a successful and enjoyable event.

Sincerely,
Nathan Deal

Welcome to the NAADAC Annual Conference!

As NAADAC President, I, and the Georgia NAADAC Affiliate, the Georgia Addiction Counselors Association (GACA), welcome you to the 2013 NAADAC Annual Conference. Connecting the Profession: Building a Healthier Future. We are thrilled to be holding our conference in Atlanta, a city that is rich with history and offers so many attractions, most of which are easily accessible from our site, the InterContinental Buckhead Atlanta Hotel.

Our conference theme really says it all as our profession continues on a future of change. Both NAADAC and GACA remain poised to lead us into that future and make our profession even stronger.

This conference not only includes a strong lineup of plenary speakers, but also a multitude of workshop topics with the latest information to prepare us for our future.

The conference isn’t all about learning, however. It is also about networking and having fun. As in the past, we will be recognizing contributions to the addiction profession and outstanding achievement efforts at our awards luncheon. There will be plenty of breaks throughout the conference during which we can network with addiction professionals from around the country and learn what challenges and successes we have in common. I would also encourage you to come to the NAADAC Political Action Committee (PAC) reception and auction. It is an opportunity to have fun and learn about national issues facing the addiction profession. It is open to all NAADAC members, so if you’re not a member, we invite you become one and join us.

The NAADAC Executive Committee and the Board of Directors will be conducting business meetings during the conference and will be available to you to help with any issues you may have. Please feel free to approach any of us while at the conference. As President, I personally hope to meet as many of you as possible and learn what the needs are in your home states.

In closing, I want to thank all of the wonderful sponsors and partners for their support in this year’s conference. We couldn’t have put it together without you and I hope to meet with as many of you as possible. Please visit the exhibit hall and give them your thanks and appreciation as well.

I also want to thank Executive Director Cynthia Moreno Tuohy and the NAADAC staff, for all their hard work putting this conference together on top of their already busy demands at the NAADAC office.

I thoroughly hope you enjoy Atlanta and the conference.

8:30 – 10 am Hope 3
De-Mystifying Health Reform, Managed Care and Joining Insurance Panels: How Behavioral Health Funding Works and How to Make it Work for You
Jim Clarkson, MA, LADAC

This presentation will offer administrators, managers, clinicians and front line staff a behind the scenes look at how managed care and insurance companies work and will provide concrete strategies to maximize provider opportunities in the current behavioral health landscape and with the advent of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act. We will provide an understanding of the health reform law along with various models of reimbursement, partnership strategies, evidence-based practices, performance incentives as well as describing how innovative community partnerships, engagement of clients, clinical practice, data collection/EHRs and billing practice can all align for sustainability and financial strength. We will walk through an actual application to join a behavioral health provider panel and provide strategies for addressing barriers and overcoming common negative responses from managed care’s provider relations departments regarding new provider applications.

Each participant will have the opportunity to discuss their unique questions and curiosities in a safe environment about a topic that is often confusing and ever-changing — with a former managed care executive who also has a background as an addiction professional — and get help developing an “action plan” to implement strategies discussed in the seminar. Although the topic is serious and often detailed — the presenter always tries to inform, engage, inspire and describe examples of how recovery and wellness both personally and professionally are key signposts to how well an agency can grow and thrive fiscally.

8:30 – 10 am Trippe 1/2
Integrating Treatment for Co-occurring Disorders: An Introduction to What Every Addiction Counselor Needs to Know
Mary Ryan Woods, RNC, LADC, MSHS, and John Colby, MSW, LADC

This skill-based training program will help addiction counselors improve their ability to assist clients who have co-occurring disorders, within their scope of practice. This educational program introduces the integrated model of mental health and addiction treatment services, outlining how to utilize current substance abuse treatment best practices when working with this population. Through the use of case studies and interactive exercises, participants will feel more comfortable and competent in addressing mental health issues with clients who have co-occurring disorders.

Note: Schedule subject to change without notice.

3 – 5 pm  Venetian 1
Health Insurance Enrollment Assistance: Opportunities for Alcohol and Drug Abuse Counselors
Stephanie McCladdie, MPA
The presentation will provide an overview of the significance of the Affordable Care Act’s changes to the eligibility, application and enrollment systems for Medicaid, the Children’s Health Insurance Program (CHIP) and the new affordable insurance Marketplaces. The presentation will also share resources and materials for alcohol and drug abuse treatment professionals in providing basic enrollment assistance.

OPENING PLENARY: Effective Prevention and Treatment of Substance Abuse
Frances Brisbane, PhD, MSW, and Vincent “Peter” Hayden, PhD
Effective prevention and treatment of substance abuse and addiction responds best when the client’s/patient’s culture is factored into the process. Being aware of and respectful of cultural differences among individuals, as well as their sameness, in many ways, makes for good medical and social outcomes. While most people develop the disease of alcoholism in a general progression medically, the prevention and treatment need to respond to individual and group cultural behaviors, mores, beliefs, and other historical and legacy determinants. Social service, human service, alcoholism and drug prevention and treatment agencies, which have as a goal the practice of culturally competent care, can effectively meet the needs of their multicultural clients/patients.

Utilization of the Prescription Drug Monitoring Program (PDMP) by Addiction Professionals to Combat the Prescription Drug Abuse Epidemic: An Argument for Direct Access
Kurt Snyder, MMGT, LAC, LSW
Increase the effectiveness of your state Prescription Drug Monitoring Program (PDMP). On August 1, 2011, North Dakota became the first and only state to allow Licensed Addiction Counselors direct access to a PDMP with equal status to other professions including prescribers and dispensers. North Dakota took this bold step in response to disturbing trends of prescription drug abuse. This workshop will share the rationale of the North Dakota leaders and provide participants with an understanding of how addiction professionals utilize access to more accurately diagnose; make more appropriate recommendations; better coordinate services with primary care providers; and increase access to addiction services. Data and case studies will highlight the limitations and effectiveness of direct access by addiction professionals.

Trends in the Addiction Profession: An Update for the Professional

October 12, 2013, 12:30 – 1:30 pm, Venetian Ballroom

Robert C. Richards, MA, NCAC II, CADC III
Cynthia Moreno Tuohy, NCAC II, CCDC III, SAP

Are you a Counselor, Administrator/CEO, Clinical Supervisor, Educator, Medical Care Provider, Social Worker, Marriage and Family Therapist, Faith-based Practitioner or Program Director, then YOU should attend!

The addiction profession is evolving quickly, especially with the implementation of the Affordable Care Act (ACA). It is extremely important for addiction professionals to stay abreast of recent developments and potential changes to the profession, as well as stay informed about how your practice might be affected. This session will discuss the new national scopes of practice for the addiction profession, the importance of maintaining your license or credential in the wake of the ACA implementation and initiatives implemented by NAADAC, the Association for Addiction Professionals. At the end of the live presentation, participants will be able to ask questions of the presenters and receive immediate answers.

This presentation will:
- Outline current trends and developments that impact on the addiction-focused professional.
- Describe the opportunities and challenges of the new environment created with the implementation of health reform at the national level and credentialed and licensure changes at the state level.
- Discuss the potential benefits of specialized activities for addiction-focused professionals.

Robert C. Richards, MA, CADC II, NCAC II, is President of NAADAC, the Association for Addiction Professionals. Richards has been a NAADAC board member for the past 12 years.

He has served as President of ADACO, the Oregon NAADAC affiliate, NAADAC Northwest Regional Vice President for two terms, Treasurer, President Elect and has been involved in numerous committees which include: finance, personnel, the NCC/NAADAC ad hoc committee, tobacco awareness, membership, capital campaign and development, bylaws and the veterans committee.

Richards is Executive Director of Willamette Family Inc. which operates eight facilities in Eugene, Springfield and Cottage Grove, Ore. During his 27+ years as an addiction professional, he has worked as a counselor, clinical supervisor, administrator and educator. He is a past member of CAAP, the ATTC-founded Consortium for the Advancement of Addiction Professionals and has been a member of various state and local groups and taskforces including a detoxification taskforce and a heroin taskforce. He has also served as a peer reviewer during numerous site reviews for the State of Oregon Office of Mental Health and Addiction Services. Richards is an experienced trainer specializing in cultural aspects of addiction, spirituality, advanced counseling skills and other topics.

Cynthia Moreno Tuohy, NCAC II, CCDC III, SAP, is the Executive Director of NAADAC, the Association of Addiction Professionals. She previously served as the Executive Director of Danya Institute and the Central East Addiction Technology Transfer Center. Prior to this, she was the Program Director for Volunteers of America Western Washington, serving homeless populations and dealing with the co-occurrence of poverty and substance abuse issues. In addition, she has been the administrator of multi-county, publicly funded alcohol/drug prevention/intervention/treatment centers with services ranging from prenatal care to the serving the elderly for over 20 years.

Moreno Tuohy has been a trainer in Domestic Violence/Anger Management and Conflict Resolution for over two decades as well as an international, national and state trainer in a variety of topics. She has served as President of NAADAC, Certification Board Commissioner, International Chair, Treasurer and Legislative Chair for NAADAC.

Jouh Lisy, LICDC, OCPS II, LISW-S, LPCC-S, is the Treasurer for NAADAC. He is currently the Executive Director of the Shaker Heights Youth Center. The Center received the Exemplary Prevention Award from the Ohio Department of Alcohol and Drug Addiction Services (ODADAS) three times. The Center received the Matthew Dunlop Prevention Services Award and Lisy received the Calvin Thomas Community Leadership Award. He was awarded the Advocate of the Year award for 2005 by NAADAC at the Leadership Conference in Washington, D.C. on March 8, 2005.
When We Get Behind Closed Doors. Clinical Supervision Practice for Client Protection and Clinician Growth (part 1 of 2)
Alan Lyme, LCSW, ICICS, ICADC
Whether a seasoned veteran or fresh-out-of-college, addictions counselors legally and ethically need clinical supervision. How well that supervision is managed may have an impact not only on the clinician but also on the experience and outcome for each client. This overview of clinical supervision will present not only the challenges that quality supervision presents but also some solutions that may help both supervisor and supervisee get more from the experience.

Moodle, MOOCs and Mobile Applications: It Is Your Turn to Discover the Power of Learning Online
Lausie Krom, MS
Have you heard of Coursera or the Khan Academy? How about gamification or edutainment? If not, you soon will. Advances in educational technology and pedagogy are exploding the field of online learning. Now more than ever, it is easier to find, access and take high-quality, relevant courses on a computer or mobile device. In this presentation, we will define and describe online learning, discuss its effectiveness, and explain the factors driving its popularity. We will also outline future trends in online education and highlight online learning resources available through the Addiction Technology Transfer Center (ATTC) Network.

Transformational Supervision: Investing in the Next Generation
Mita Johnson, LPC, LMFT, ACS, AAMFT-approved Clinical Supervisor; LAC, MAC, and Anne M. Hatcher, EdD, CAC, III, NCAC II
The goal of this interactive training is to motivate the supervisor to use experiential activities alongside didactic teaching to enhance and energize clinical supervision. Supervision is built on a relationship that is stimulating, challenging, and relevant. These activities will strengthen the alliance between the supervisee and their supervisor while improving the delivery of services on the front lines. While many presentations focus on the science of supervision, this training will focus on the art of supervision: those experiences which create an outstanding supervisory experience.

Student Assistance Programs: Help and Healing Through the Educational System, Thirty Three Years Later 1980–2013. Who Will Take Our Place?
Cheryl Watkins, MA
Student Assistance Programs started in the late 1970s, with concern for our young people’s substance abuse. SAPs have grown with the field and now address all issues interfering with a young person’s well-being and future. We will discuss the history of SAP, expansion of the movement throughout the United States and expansion into 31 other countries. Watkins believes the program will survive and thrive as students who have been helped through SAP are now teachers, counselors, parents, superintendents and community leaders for the next generation.

Trends in the Addiction Profession: An Update for the Professional – NAADAC Membership Meeting
Robert C. Richards, MA, NCAC II, CADC III, Cynthia Moreno Tsooby, NCAC II, CCDC III, SAP, and John Lisy, LICDC, OCPS II, LISW-S, LPCC-S
The addiction profession is evolving quickly, especially with the implementation of the Affordable Care Act (ACA). It is extremely important for addiction professionals to stay abreast of recent developments and potential changes to the profession, as well as stay informed about how your practice might be affected. This session will discuss the new national scopes of practice for the addiction profession, the importance of maintaining your license or credential in the wake of the ACA implementation and initiatives implemented by NAADAC, the Association for Addiction Professionals. At the end of the live presentation, participants will be able to ask questions of the presenters and receive immediate answers.

This session is open to all conference attendees. Find out the latest developments from NAADAC, the Association for Addiction Professionals. As a “thank you” for your participation in the meeting, you’ll get a boxed lunch, distributed at 1:15 pm.

Come meet former NBA player Chris Herren and Aerosmith guitarist and songwriter Richie Supa and at the NAADAC Political Action Committee reception on October 12 in Atlanta, Ga.

The NAADAC PAC is the largest and oldest Political Action Committee dedicated to the education and working for the interests of addiction-focused professionals. The PAC Reception will feature an intimate evening with Herren and Supa: a chance to connect, share stories and hear candid remarks.

Richie Supa is a songwriter and guitarist who has written music for the who’s who of Rock and Roll. Supa is best known for his work with Aerosmith and has released several albums, including Supa’s Jamboree (1971), Homespun (1972), Lifelines (1976) and Tall Tales (1978).

Serving as the Music Director of Rockers in Recovery, he has helped forge the message of Rockers In Recovery with carrying hope, education, and treatment through his music. Supa not only works closely with the organization, but is also the head of the Rockers In Recovery Unplugged Series which visits addiction drug and alcohol treatment centers all over the United States. Select members of the Rockers In Recovery band come to share their message of hope and play an unplugged set of songs geared towards recovery.

A basketball legend from Fall River, Mass., Chris Herren realized his dreams by playing for the Celtics in the NBA. Herren’s basketball success concealed a darker side, and his dream soon became a nightmare of addiction — first alcohol, then cocaine and finally heroin. After extensive rehabilitative stays, Herren has been drug and alcohol-free since August 1, 2008, and has refocused his life to put his sobriety and family above all else.

Herren has struggled with substance abuse for much of his basketball career. He shares his harrowing story of abuse and recovery in his memoir, Basketball Junkie, as well as in numerous interviews throughout the Emmy Award nominated ESPN documentary Unguarded. Herren will draw on his own history to show that it is never too late to follow your dreams and overcome your setbacks and start making the right choices.

Movie Screening: The Anonymous People

Discussion to follow facilitated by Neil Kaltenecker, MS, of the Georgia Council on Substance Abuse

Participants will view the film The Anonymous People, a feature documentary film about the 23.5 million Americans living in long-term recovery from alcohol and other drug addiction. Deeply entrenched social stigma and mass participation in widely successful anonymous 12-Step groups have kept recovery voices silent and faces hidden for decades. The vacuum created by this silence has been filled by sensational mass media depictions of addiction that continue to perpetuate a lurid public fascination with the dysfunctional side of what is a preventable and treatable health condition. Just like women with breast cancer, or people with HIV/AIDS, courageous addiction recovery advocates are starting to come out of the shadows to tell their true stories. The moving story of The Anonymous People will be told through the faces and voices of the leaders, volunteers, corporate executives and celebrities who are laying it all on the line to save the lives of others just like them. This passionate new public recovery movement is fueling a changing conversation that aims to transform public opinion, and finally shift problematic policy toward lasting recovery solutions.

After the screening, a discussion will be led by Neil Kaltenecker from the Georgia Council on Substance Abuse, dealing with the critical issues of prevention, treatment and recovery from addiction and the themes from the film.

Allan Barger, MSW

This presentation addresses the new reality in which professionals find themselves with the renewed acceptance of marijuana use, including legalization. While the public has come to view marijuana as harmless, a growing body of research suggests otherwise. This presentation will cover five areas of risk supported in the research and thoughts will be added on two policy issues that impact clinical work: medical marijuana and legalization. Based on the research presented earlier, some thoughts on addressing these issues will be considered.

Denormalizing Tobacco Use: Improving Quality of Care in Addiction Services
Anthony (Tony) Klein, MPA, CASAC, NCAC II
Tobacco use is the social norm in the addiction treatment setting. For many, the vision of a clean and sober lifestyle includes smoking cigarettes while drinking coffee and attending daily self-help groups. As a result, tobacco dependence has traditionally been ignored in alcohol and drug programming. Consequently, the majority of those who successfully maintain abstinence from alcohol and drugs prematurely die from tobacco-related diseases. This session utilizes research data and the lessons learned from New York State Promising Tobacco Interventions Projects to engage participants in an open discussion on the rationale for addressing tobacco in addiction services, the bio-psycho-social aspects of tobacco use specific to individuals with substance use disorders and a systems approach to integrate tobacco recovery counseling into clinical practice.

Eating Disorders and Brain Neurochemistry
Rebecca Cooper, MFT, LPCC, CEDS
Sixty-six percent of North America’s population is overweight; nearly one-third are obese (NIDDK, 2008). Obesity is costing our healthcare system over $147 billion annually (Finkelstein, Trogdon, Cohen & Dietz, 2009). We now have 12.5 million children who are overweight or obese (CDC, 2012), and 24 million people in the United States with an eating disorder (AED, 2010). Something is drastically wrong! Research is shedding light on the fact that fats and sugars affect the reward system in the brain similar to alcohol and drugs (Avena, Rada, Hoebel, 2008). There are many scientific evidenced-based studies that have shown commonalities between overconsumption of sugars and drug addiction (Volkow and Wise, 2005; Kelley, 2004; Levine, Kotz, & Gosnell, 2003). A Holistic Approach to Coping with Professional Stress Reactions in Addiction Professionals
Christopher Shea, MA, CRAT, CAC-AD
As addiction professionals we spend our career leading people from addiction to recovery. The process to recovery can be long and difficult for the client, yet at the same time you as the counselor are not immune to your own struggles and challenges as you draw upon your inner training and resources. As counselors we need to understand our own frailty in light of our professional role, recognizing the signs of stress, anxiety and burnout in the midst of our daily routine. Drawing from a holistic approach centered on cognitive behavioral techniques and a spiritual sense, participants will be guided through the life cycle of stress in relation to their reactions to stressors and cognitive functioning. Drawing on personal experience as a counselor, administrator and chaplain, participants will learn holistic coping skills which will enable them to more fully and effectively continue with their professional work as a more fully aware counselor.

The Gatekeeper vs Student Assistance: Role of Addiction Studies Educators

Alan Cavaiola, PhD, LCADC, Kirk Bowden, PhD, and Joan E. Standora, PhD, LADC, CASAC

Addiction educators are charged with the task of evaluating student progress as they progress through their training to become addictions counselors. In assessing student performance issues of academic, personal and professional development often reveal personal stressors and other student problems. Addiction educators are sometimes placed in the role of student assistance counselors in making recommendation to ameliorate problems however, edu-

MORNING KEYNOTE: The New ASAM Criteria – What’s New and How The ASAM Criteria Helps You Re-Form for Healthcare Reform
David Mee-Lee, MD

The ASAM Criteria are the most widely used and comprehensive set of guidelines for assessment, service planning, and placement in the treatment of addictive disorders. A new edition will be released October 24, 2013. This presentation will inform participants of what is new since the last edition ASAM PPC-2R, 2001. With the Affordable Care Act (ACA), there will be many more people eligible for addiction treatment in both treatment programs, but even more in general healthcare settings where the customers really are. This presentation will also suggest how clinicians, programs and systems can use The ASAM Criteria to re-form and respond to the clinical, financial and administrative demands for change.

MONDAY MORNING BREAKOUT SESSIONS

Breakout Session  Hope 1
Addiction: It’s a Brain Disease…and it Gets Complicated
Navjot Singh Bedi, MD

This program will begin by describing the core concepts of addiction and discuss some of the factors that led to development of addiction in an individual with specific emphasis on psychiatric diagnoses. We will then apply this information to discuss the incidents and prevalence of substance use disorders in people with co-occurring psychiatric diagnoses. We will also develop insights into how to assess and formulate differential diagnoses and approaches to these patients.

Breakout Session  Tripple 1
The Road Less Traveled: The Intersection of Addiction Treatment and Substance Abuse Prevention
Iris E. Smith, PhD, MPH

Using the continuum of care framework, this workshop will explore opportunities for breaking the intergenerational cycle of addiction through evidence based interventions that address the need of the whole family. Strategies for building systems of care through community partnerships and collaboration will also be discussed.

Breakout Session  Hope 2
Marijuana: Does it Have to be Toxic to be Debilitating? Teasing out Marijuana Fact From Fiction, a 2013 Health Perspective
Pete Katz, BA, LCDC, ADC Level III Diplomate, ICADC

Marijuana, particularly among our youth, is the most widely used illicit drug in the U.S. Traditionally, information provided in educational, prevention and counseling settings has understated or overstated the health dangers associated with marijuana use and misuse. The result has been an increasing lack of credibility within youth and within criminal justice populations at high risk for developing abusive and addictive relations with marijuana. This workshop will provide practical application strategies for use in administering AOD Offender Education modules specific to how marijuana realize its effects within the human host and the potential dangers of its abuse. A particular emphasis will include specific strategies to increase motivation for change in resistant clients. To encourage their rethinking of drug use generally and marijuana use specifically both the understated and overstated dangers surrounding marijuana use as evidenced by recent scientific findings and published study results will be reviewed.

Breakout Session  Hope 3
Empowering Peers in Recovery: A Force Multiplier
Cheryl A. Brown, MHR, SPHR, CM; Certified Recovery Support Specialist (CRSS) and Jean LaCour, PhD, CPP

Discover the expanding role of peers in addiction and behavioral health… Learn why scope and practice is the key to unleashing the potential for greater service of those in the recovery community “with lived experience.” In this season of rapid system transformation, leaders in the addiction field must know the best practices for recovery peers, recovery mentors, recovery coaches and...

Breakout Session        Hope 1
A Second Chance at College: How On-campus Recovery
Programs are Changing the Face of Addiction Treatment
Robert Ferguson, Founder and CEO of Jaywalker Lodge

The delicate issues around how, when and whether a 20-something addict in early recovery should attempt to return to a college campus poses the ultimate high risk/high reward dilemma for providers and patients alike. This presentation will provide an overview of several unique approaches to on-campus collegiate programming.

Breakout Session        Hope 2
The Science of Addiction and Recovery
Neil Kaltenecker, MS

The Science of Addiction and Recovery is a training for people in long-term recovery, their families, friends and allies. The chronic nature of substance use disorders means that relapsing is possible. Relapse rates (i.e., how often symptoms occur) for addiction are similar to those for other well-characterized chronic medical illnesses such as diabetes, hypertension and asthma, which also have both physiological and behavioral components. Treatment of chronic diseases involves changing deeply imbedded behaviors and relapse does not mean failure.

Breakout Session        Hope 3
A Comprehensive Model of Addiction Treatment
Philip Herschman, PhD

The field has been describing addiction as a chronic disease for decades and more recently has been calling for the widespread adoption of evidenced based practices. While this conversation continues, most treatment programs have not implemented clinical practices that support these constructs. The current and future landscape of the addiction treatment field calls for us to provide evidence that what we do works and for us to practice what we preach.

Georgia Addiction Counselors Association Member’s Lunch

Attend the screening of BEYOND OPIATES, a 33-minute video by CNS Productions that examines the science of pain and its influence on recovery from opioid dependency. Most importantly it presents the new paradigm for understanding chronic pain, showing how the extended use of prescription painkillers increases the sensitivity of nerve cells thereby magnifying pain (hyperalgesia, hyperpathia, alodynia). The video also encourages clients to examine recovery in light of this new view of treating dependency and pain.

Breakout Session
Tripp 1
Powerful Solutions for Addictions Treatment: The Intersection of Addictions Medicine and Energy Medicine
Grier Cundill, MA, DCEP [certified practitioner of Energy Psychology], NCACII, CADCIII

The tools of Dynamic Energetic Healing, a model in energy medicine and energy psychology, are added to the phases of traditional treatment to reduce craving and shame and to release trauma and denial. Participants will practice the energetic strategies to enhance addiction treatment.

Track: Trauma & Addiction
CE credits: 1.5

Breakout Session
Tripp 1
Cultural Competency Training: Providing Affirmative Services to Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Orientation Questioning Clients
Phil McCabe, CSW, CAS, CDVC, DRMCC

The LGBT community is diverse and includes members of every race, ethnicity, religion, mental capacity, physical ability/disability, age and socioeconomic group. Studies indicate that LGBT people are more likely to use alcohol, tobacco and other drugs than the general population. They are also less likely to abstain from alcohol, tobacco and other drugs, they report higher rates of substance abuse problems, and they are more likely to continue heavy drinking into later life. LGBTs use alcohol, tobacco and other drugs for the same reasons as others, however their probability of heightening is heightened by personal and cultural stresses resulting from anti-gay bias. For LGBT individuals, treatment must include a focus on the effects of stigma, homophobia and heterosexism in order to be beneficial to the patient. Not only does treatment and prevention need to be inclusive of the core issues affecting LGBT clients, it also needs to maintain a LGBT affirming understanding of the life skills necessary to develop and maintain a drug free existence.

Track: Special Populations
CE credits: 1.5

Breakout Session
Tripp 1
Sexuality and Substance Abuse: Connections to Women’s Recovery
Raven James, PhD

Sexual issues in substance abuse treatment are often ignored, or lacking in depth and comprehension. There is a dearth of information related to sexual health for use in substance abuse settings. Exploring sexual issues in treatment has consistently improved client retention and reduced relapse rates. The purpose of this presentation is to disseminate information from behavioral therapies development research in order to examine an understudied connection to addictions treatment outcomes and sexual risk-reduction for women affected by substance use.

3 – 3:30 pm
Windsor Ballroom Foyer

CLOSING KEYNOTE: Uppers, Downers, All Arounders: Current Trends in Substance Abuse and/or Evolving Science of Addiction and Recovery
Darryl S. Inaba, PharmD, CADACIII

Dr. Inaba will discuss the wide variety of new synthetic and natural chemicals that are recently being abused. This will include synthetic cannabinoids, “Bath Salts,” prescription opiates, Kratom, “shake and bake” methamphetamine and others. The discussion will include the toxic and addiction characteristics of these substances, including how they impact recovery and treatment. Evolving science of addiction and recovery will discuss the neuro-scientific developments in understanding the processes of addiction and recovery including craving and relapse.

Screening, Brief Intervention and Referral to Treatment (SBIRT)
Gerry Schmidt, MA, MAC, LPC

Substance use is associated with physical and emotional health problems, alcohol-related traffic crashes, alcohol-and drug-impaired driving, accidents and violence. Addiction professionals can identify and intervene early before substance use results in adverse consequences or they become alcohol or drug dependent. SBI uses a brief, valid, scientific, screening (five minutes or less) to identify whether substance use places an individual at risk for negative consequences. Depending on the results from the screening questions, the addiction professional may provide health education, simple advice, motivational counseling, help with an action plan or a referral for treatment.

PRIDE Institute has been the leader in providing treatment for the LGBT community for 25 years. PRIDE Institute opened its doors in 1986 as the nation’s first treatment center dedicated to providing services exclusively for the gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgender community. Since then, PRIDE has graduated more than 14,000 graduates hailing from every state in the country and even some from Canada. Clients at PRIDE Institute have the opportunity to face their internalized homophobia head on in both individual and group sessions. One’s sexual identity is not an issue to be ashamed of at PRIDE Institute unlike many mainstream or “ally” programs. When clients are able to be open and honest about their authentic self, they are then able to focus solely on their recovery. After all, if it is OK to keep one’s sexuality a secret, then why not keep one drink or one pill a secret, too? At PRIDE Institute, honesty is a key to recovery.

Recovery Road
www.recoveryroad.com

Recovery Road is located in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. — a city that celebrates life with its beautiful beaches and numerous parks featuring recreational facilities and serene natural surroundings. This setting provides the ideal environment for recovery from chemical dependency and other addictive behaviors. Our goal at Recovery Road is to uncover our clients’ true spirit. We provide a safe and caring environment where they can begin the journey of self-discovery and recovery. We treat a small number of individuals at a time according to their unique needs, because we know that no two individuals are exactly alike as they begin the process of making significant change. Our programs are gender specific. In addition to focusing on the individual, we strongly believe in involving family members in the treatment process. When family and loved ones participate in evidence-based treatment, clients can expect more profound healing — and, just as importantly, receive a strong preparation for a smoother transition back into their everyday lives.

Steppin’ Out Radio
Booth B – Windsor Foyer
www.steppinoutradio.com

Denise McIntee formed Powerful Radio Productions with one goal: to produce powerful radio programs. The first project: producing the first of its kind ever radio show: “Steppin’ Out: the 12 Step Meeting On-The-Air.” The radio show idea began when McIntee attended 12-step meetings as part of her psychology course work in grad school. She became fascinated and noted that the meetings were often better than many of the stories currently heard on-the-air. Great talk radio is great storytelling and 12-step meetings have the best storytellers in the world. That is how the idea for “Steppin’ Out: The 12 Step Meeting On-The-Air” concept was born.

Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA)
www.samhsa.gov

SAMHSA was established in 1992 and directed by Congress to target effectively substance abuse and mental health services to the people most in need and to translate research in these areas more effectively and more rapidly into the general health care system. Over the years SAMHSA has demonstrated that — prevention works, treatment is effective and people recover from mental and substance use disorders. Behavioral health services improve health status and reduce health care and other costs to society. Continued improvement in the delivery and financing of prevention, treatment and recovery support services provides a cost-effective opportunity to advance and protect the Nation’s health.

Treatment Professionals in Alumni Services (TPAS)
www.facebook.com/TpasCommunity

TPAS is a national professional membership association of individuals and agencies that serve the addiction treatment alumni and aftercare community. TPAS is comprised of alumni services professionals from addiction treatment organizations across the United States. We believe that alumni services should be a vital and important component of the continuum of services provided to our treatment center clients. Within a framework of understanding that recovery is a process of personal growth, self-management, and empowerment, TPAS supports those professionals who will, in turn, help those in recovery to embrace a life that includes abstinence and wellness.

Victory Addiction Recovery Center
www.myvictorycenter.com

Victory Addiction Recovery Center is a 23,000-square-foot facility offering a full array of substance abuse services. Victory is also a family resource center as well as an outpatient substance abuse facility and inpatient residential treatment facility. Victory will not just treat the individual, but will also help the family members address their issues. Besides offering substance abuse programs, Victory Addiction Recovery Center hosts support groups, meetings and workshops. There is also a collection of outside speakers from all over, speaking to different family issues, that present at the facility. Ultimately, the unique feature that sets Victory apart from the substance abuse centers in the area is local ownership and a more personalized touch.

Wellington Retreat
www.wellingtonretreat.com

Wellington Retreat is located in West Palm Beach, Fla., a city that lies along the glittering intercostal, offering sunshine and warm weather to visitors and inhabitants. Here, on North Florida Mango Road, is the only addiction and psychiatric rehabilitation center in the state that is run by a medical physician. With Florida being the rehabilitation capital of the country, this may sound crazy — and it is. Wellington Retreat is more than proud of their expert staff who are firmly dedicated to the healing process of each and every one of their patients. Using research-backed, cutting-edge practices, our patients receive the state-of-the-art treatment they deserve. Our leading neuro-psychiatrist and addictionologist, Dr. Robert A. Moran, welcomes each patient, spending quality time with them in order to achieve a correct diagnosis and an appropriate, effective treatment plan that will fit their individual needs. Oftentimes, individuals who suffer from substance abuse disorders will have an unknown co-occurring psychiatric disorder as well. Therefore, Wellington Retreat believes in treating patients for each disorder at the same time, as this ensures their complete recovery.

WestBridge
Booth 21
www.westbridge.org

At WestBridge, we provide integrated dual diagnosis treatment to families and individuals experiencing co-occurring mental illness and substance use disorders. We specialize in helping persons with mood and thought disorders (such as bipolar and schizophrenia) using Evidence-Based Practices. We are unique in the way we embrace family members as part of the recovery process. Families are involved in the entire care process, rather than just a few days or during the intake process. We travel anywhere in the country to complete our Admissions Meet & Greet. We provide individualized care in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and Florida.

Wilderness Treatment Center
www.wilderness treatmentcenter.com

Wilderness Treatment Center is a 60-day, inpatient chemical dependency addiction treatment facility for teens and young men between the ages of 14 and 24. We combine a conventional 30-day inpatient stay with a 10–21 day wilderness therapy expedition. Each of the expeditions is staffed by one of the addiction counselors and a wilderness instructor for the duration of the trip. This combination provides these young men with an unprecedented beginning on their recovery journey. Since 1983, Wilderness Treatment Center has proven itself as a unique, safe and successful addiction treatment program for young men.

Willingway
www.willingway.com

Willingway is focused on substance abuse patients and their families. Featuring private rooms and baths, Willingway is located just outside historic Savannah, Ga. Willingway is one of the foremost drug addiction and alcoholism treatment centers in the nation. Over the past 40 years, privately owned Willingway has helped more than 20,000 patients recover from alcohol and drug dependency. From medical detoxification to inpatient, outpatient, extended care and continuing care programs, men and women find the help they need at Willingway to get their lives back. For more information, visit www.willingway.com or call 800.242.9455.

Xtreme Serenity Systems

NAADAC’s Annual Conference will be held in Seattle, Wash., at the DoubleTree Hotel Seattle Airport from September 27–October 1, 2014. NAADAC and its partners are calling for workshop proposals that offer unique educational experiences for addiction focused professionals.

How Will Presenters be Selected?
The Conference Committee will accept presenter applications until the close of business on December 11, 2013. Applications will be selected according to the following criteria:
• All sections of the application are complete.
• Presentation description is clearly written.
• Learning objectives are clearly stated.
• Session structure and organization are clearly defined.
• Presenters have sufficient experience and knowledge of the subject matter.

Scoring Criteria
Each presentation will be ranked out of ten points: three points for topic relevance; three points for a compelling description and use of evidence-based practices; three points for unique approach to/or delivery of the subject matter and one point for being a current NAADAC member.

What Resources Will be Available to Presenters?
• The conference committee will consider proposals for 90 minute or three hour sessions. Because the conference committee will select a limited number of proposals, please assure that you do not have a scheduling conflict if your proposal is selected.
