Editor’s Note

It was with great excitement that I took on the task of editing this issue of NAADAC News. National Alcohol & Drug Recovery Month was my first “Special Project” when I started working at NAADAC last year so it seems quite fitting that it will also be my first contribution as Editor. From the great importance of advocacy, to innovative approaches to treating youth in the juvenile justice system, this issue is packed with many resources for you to get involved with affecting change in your communities and across the nation.

Donovan Kuehn has laid solid groundwork for this publication with insight and dedication. He has been an inspiration and touchstone for me during my time at NAADAC. With his expertise and advice I hope to carry on his vision while lending it my own personal flair.

My educational background in American Indian, domestic violence and women’s issues coupled with my experience with activist, artistic and LGBT communities will guide my initial research, but I hope to take this publication across the entire gamut of my experience. My goal is to infuse NAADAC News with fresh perspectives and challenging analysis. I encourage everyone to share their new ideas and projects by submitting articles for publication.

Thank you for joining me on this new adventure!

Looking Back and Looking Forward
Changes Came to NAADAC Last Year, and More Will Come in the Future

Patricia M. Greer, LCDC, AAC

As we approach the NAADAC Annual Conference, I look with pride at the many exciting developments that took place during the last year. None of the strides that we made are the victory of one person — Team NAADAC, the staff, the officers, the family members and our supporters all over the country are the reason that we have come so far in such a short time.

One important accomplishment we completed was the purchase of NAADAC’s new office suite, and our relocation to a permanent home. Under the sure hand and excellent leadership of our Executive Director, Cynthia Moreno Tuohy, many obstacles, from financing to furniture were addressed successfully. Located in historic Alexandria, Va., the space has provided our association and the National Certification Commission (NCC) with a first class space, and the capability to expand future staff and services. Consider making a visit when you come to Washington, D.C.!

Last September, our goals were set at the Annual Conference in Nashville, and our association has continued to create new partnerships, develop new revenue streams and break new ground in publications and training opportunities. With the early departure of President Sharon Morgillo Freeman, PhD, APRN-CS, MAC, I moved into the role of President, and Donald P. Osborn, MS, MA, MAC, was elected to fill the remainder of the President-Elect term by the Board of Directors. Michael Angelo, NCAC I, CADC II, also was elected as Treasurer, to fill the vacancy left by Alvin Feliciano, and the elections of 2008 have returned the officer rotation back into order.

As part of our growth plan, NAADAC forged a new alliance with an old friend, adding a prestigious new partner to our advocacy efforts: the National Association of Addiction Treatment Providers (NAATP). The NAADAC/NAATP Government Relations Department is housed at the NAADAC offices and consists of a full-time government relations liaison, a part-time professional lobbyist and consultant/strategist and a part-time intern. Both organizations will co-host the Advocacy in Action event in March of 2009, to focus the voices of addiction professionals carrying the message to Capitol Hill on the topics that matter to our profession.

As NAADAC grows, we continue to strengthen our financial business base. Sales from publications, revenue from the Lifelong Learning Series grants, sponsored efforts from our corporate partners, advertising at our events and joint efforts with partners from rock star Nikki Sixx to our affiliates have given us greater visibility to many new potential allies. Recovery Month activities with SAMHSA are also an effort being coordinated by Anne Luna, and if you are undertaking efforts this September, please let us know what you’re doing, and we’ll help to get the word out.

We have also taken the initiative to establish a veteran’s affairs committee. That committee has put together an outstanding effort to alert Congress and other professionals about the vulnerabilities of our returning troops, and made recommendations at many levels on means for improving access to quality care, and the need for services. Our new Academic committee, chaired by our President-Elect Don Osborn, is working very hard to outline academic standards for the education of addictions treatment professionals in higher education. The agenda that this group is undertaking is ambitious and I look forward to their report in Kansas. The many committees and efforts of your leaders are inspirational. I hope that you will continue to support all of the growth and plans at the local, state and national levels.

NAADAC’s mission is to “lead, unify and empower addiction focused professionals to achieve excellence through education, advocacy, knowledge, standards of practice, ethics, professional development and research.” To fulfill this mission, NAADAC’s training and education programs are updated regularly to meet the needs of our professionals. We continue to support regional trainings and online courses and to offer products that are helpful in service delivery by our member counselors.

To conclude — the staff has worked many long hours to produce the highest quality of work. Shirley Beckett Mikell, Donovan Kuehn, Diana Kamp, Donna Croy, Jeff Crouse, Daniel Guarnera, Anne Luna, of course Cynthia Moreno Tuohy, and all of the other people in the organization who make NAADAC “the premier global organization” that it is deserve a standing ovation for guiding us to a bright future.

It has been a pleasure to represent you as your President over the last year, and I look forward to future accomplishments of strengthening our members, affiliates and profession. Thank you all!

Statistics show that 22.5 million Americans were classified with substance dependence or abuse in the past year, and millions more live in households with people who abuse or have been dependent on alcohol and drugs. As many as 74 percent of Americans say addiction to alcohol has had some impact on them at some point in their lives, whether it was their own personal addiction, that of a friend or family member or another set of experiences.

In the face of these daunting numbers, it is refreshing to sit back, take stock and remember that positive change is happening in our communities. Recovery Month, held in September of each year, is just such a time.

Recovery Month efforts are an initiative of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, Center for Substance Abuse Treatment. Since 1990, towns, counties and states across the United States have observed National Alcohol and Drug Addiction Recovery Month (Recovery Month) in September. This year, the 19th annual Recovery Month recognizes the contributions of those working in prevention, intervention, treatment and recovery support services and promotes the fact that recovery from alcohol and drug addiction is possible.

This year also highlights the people for whom treatment and long-term recovery have given a renewed outlook on life. NAADAC is proud to take part in the theme, “Join the Voices for Recovery: Real People, Real Recovery,” to spread the word that addiction is a medical illness, that treatment is effective and recovery is possible. By getting involved, you can help more people on a path of recovery to lead more fulfilling lives.

Each of us knows someone with a substance use disorder whether they are family members, friends, colleagues or neighbors. Those of us who have struggled with these challenges have very compelling stories to tell and can have a powerful impact on helping others seek treatment. It is with this in mind that this year’s Recovery Month celebration highlights the unique histories and experiences of every person in long-term recovery.

NAADAC recognizes the importance of this celebration and is proud to include Addiction Professionals’ Day, September 20th, as one of the events to be celebrated around the nation. NAADAC is very proud to be a Recovery Month Planning Partner and looks forward supporting events across the nation. This year our some of our sponsored events include:

Bismark, North Dakota
(September 8) First Annual Walk For Recovery

Montpelier, Vermont
(September 9) Recovery Voices Count! Town Hall Meeting and Dinner

Nenana, Alaska

Simple Rules for Events

If you’re interested in organizing an event in your local community, it’s not too late! Just remember these simple rules that lead to success:

✔ Keep it Simple
Don’t try to initiate an event or program that is too difficult to pull off in the time you have. Don’t shoot for the moon, but aim for a modest success that you can build upon.

✔ Keep it Local
It is always nice to bring in a national speaker, but look at keeping it local. Are there local experts/aliies who you can work with?

✔ Don’t be Afraid to Piggyback
Are there events already going on in September? Would there be a place for you to get involved? Approach other groups that are already hosting meetings/events and ask if you can be a part of their celebration. Don’t start from scratch if you don’t need to.

✔ Success can be Repeated
If you don’t have an idea for an event, find out what took place in 2007. There will be people who can answer your questions and help you organize your own event.

✔ You Can Find Help
If you’ve got a great idea, but don’t know where to start, we can help point you in the right direction. NAADAC’s has developed a Recovery Month Guide and SAMHSA’s Recovery Month Web site: www.recoverymonth.gov provides invaluable ideas and resources, including a Recovery Month Toolkit which can assist you in planning, launching, and publicizing Recovery Month activities and events.

Every celebration, no matter how large or small, makes an invaluable contribution to the recovery movement that is growing in our nation. We encourage you to be a part of it!

2007 Westcare Kentucky celebrates Recovery Month with a 24-Hour Recovery Walk.
For over 10 years, NAADAC has operated the only addiction-focused PAC (Political Action Committee) at the federal level. Thanks to the support of hundreds of NAADAC members, NAADAC PAC has supported a decade’s worth of congressional candidates dedicated to advancing the issues most important to addiction professionals and the clients we serve. This fall, from Sept. 28–Oct. 11, the PAC Committee will ask all NAADAC members to help secure the PAC’s influence as we prepare for a new Congress and president.

PACs are legal entities that can be established by groups like trade associations, corporations and labor unions, none of which are allowed to make political contributions directly from their general funds (it would violate campaign finance laws.) Instead, a PAC relies on contributions from its organization’s membership or employees.

NAADAC’s government relations partner, the National Association of Addiction Treatment Providers (NAATP), is in the process of establishing its own PAC. Once it does, NAADAC and NAATP will be the only addiction-focused organizations with federal PACs. By contrast, the insurance industry, tobacco companies and alcoholic beverage producers are all among the biggest donors in Washington. The National Beer Wholesalers Association PAC, for example, gave the second most in contributions of any PAC in the country from 2005–2006 (and has given over $1.8 million since 2007).

Although NAADAC PAC cannot donate at the same level as the nation’s largest PACs, it gives addiction professionals (and, by extension, the addiction treatment community) a presence in Washington that they could not otherwise have. While there are many tools that treatment and recovery advocates can (and must) use to effect change — e-mails from grassroots activists, media attention, Recovery Month events — our PAC creates unique opportunities for NAADAC. It enables NAADAC representatives to spend time one-on-one with legislators and their staffs at fundraising events, talking about issues like insurance parity and protecting public funding for treatment. It helps NAADAC develop relationships with lawmakers and their aides, as well as ensuring that members of Congress who support NAADAC’s policies are re-elected. The PAC is irreplaceable and complements all other advocacy work.

Prizes for PAC Donors

During the PAC Drive, NAADAC members who donate will be recognized for their support. Every contributor will be entered in a contest to win a behind-the-scenes tour of the U.S. Capitol during the 2009 Advocacy in Action conference (Mar. 8–10), a NAADAC polo shirt and NAADAC tote bag. Eight winners will be chosen, one from each NAADAC region. One grand prize winner will also receive a free hotel stay during Advocacy in Action 2009. All PAC donors for the year will be recognized in NAADAC News and will receive special semi-annual policy updates for PAC donors only. Donations can be made at www.naadac.org or by check made out to “NAADAC PAC.”

The Political Action Committee is also working with state affiliates to plan fundraisers at local conferences. For example, the West Virginia affiliate (WVAADAC) will be hosting a PAC event at its conference from Oct. 2–3.

Prior to the PAC Drive, the Political Action Committee will host a reception and live auction at the Recovery for a Lifetime conference in Kansas City (Aug. 28–31), featuring singer Samantha Murphy. All are encouraged to attend!

More information about the PAC is available at www.naadac.org or by contacting Daniel Guarnera at daniel@naadac.org or 800.548.0497, ext. 129.

Please note: As required by law, NAADAC PAC can only accept donations from current NAADAC members and their families. All donations will be screened.
Support the Whole Health Campaign

Initiative Brings Together Substance Abuse and Mental Health Practitioners

Daniel Guarnera, NAADAC-NAATP Government Relations Liaison

Health care reform is one of the most important issues in any election year. Although it is especially salient in this year’s presidential election, the presidential candidates and their political parties do not have a focus on mental illness, alcohol and drug problems.

...most Americans (over 59 million) with addiction disorders or mental illness never receive the treatment they need and deserve.

They are not addressing the fact that most Americans (over 59 million) with addiction disorders or mental illness never receive the treatment they need and deserve. Proven prevention approaches could save millions more from developing these problems. People recovering from addiction and mental illness often experience discrimination when they seek employment, housing, insurance and in other areas of their lives.

Now is the time for America to adopt health care reform that will strengthen families and unite communities while saving billions of dollars and tens of thousands of lives.

Forty national organizations formed the Whole Health Campaign to call on our presidential candidates and their parties to ensure that addiction and mental illness are included in national health care reform.

Supporters of the Whole Health Campaign include NAADAC, the Association for Addiction Professionals; the American Society of Addiction Medicine; the Campaign for Mental Health Reform; Ensuring Solutions to Alcohol Problems; the Federation of Families for Children’s Mental Health; the Johnson Institute; Join Together; Mental Health America; the National Council for Community Behavioral Healthcare and the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependency.

We invite you to take a stand with us! By taking a moment to sign the Whole Health Campaign petition, you will join thousands of Americans asking the candidates and political parties to include addiction and mental illness on the national health care agenda.

To sign the petition, go to: http://members.jointogether.org/campaign/wholehealthcampaign.

The Campaign will deliver petitions to both major political party platform committees and their presidential candidates. Your participation will demonstrate essential grassroots support for inclusive healthcare reform. Together we can highlight the importance of prevention, treatment and recovery!

For more information on the campaign, visit www.wholehealthcampaign.org.

Pittsburgh Drug Treatment Center Sued for Discrimination
Anne Luna, JD, MA

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) has filed suit under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) against a New Kensington, Pa., drug treatment center. The Commission is an agency of the United States Government that enforces the federal employment discrimination laws.

The suit, which was brought on behalf of a former clinic employee, alleges disability-based discrimination. The employee, a recovering drug addict, worked as a full-time intensive treatment counselor at the clinic and was terminated when she tested positive for methadone in a random drug test.

An official at the Greenbriar Treatment Center is alleged to have fired the employee despite telling her employer that she had a legal prescription for methadone which she had been receiving through a methadone maintenance program since she was hired in September 2002.

She was later berated by her former boss, who told her that she “should be ashamed of herself.” The EEOC contends that the termination was unlawful discrimination against a person with a disability, because the woman’s past issues of addiction rendered her substantially impaired, and therefore disabled. The ADA does not protect current drug users, however, it does protect from discrimination on the basis of past drug addiction and those who are in recovery.

The EEOC seeks to stop Greenbriar from similar future actions, back pay for the employee and compensatory and punitive damages.

NAADAC Code of Ethics (Excerpt)
December 8, 2004

Principle 1: Non-Discrimination
I shall affirm diversity among colleagues or clients regardless of age gender, sexual orientation, ethnic/racial background, religious/spiritual beliefs, marital status, political beliefs, or mental/physical disability.
- I shall strive to treat all individuals with impartiality and objectivity relating to all based solely on their personal merits and mindful of the dignity of all human persons. As such, I shall not impose my personal values on my clients.
- I shall avoid bringing personal or professional issues into the counseling relationship. Through an awareness of the impact of stereotyping and discrimination, I shall guard the individual rights and personal dignity of my clients.
- I shall relate to all clients with empathy and understanding no matter what their diagnosis or personal history.

Principle 2: Client Welfare
I understand that the ability to do good is based on an underlying concern for the well being of others. I shall act for the good of others and exercise respect, sensitivity, and insight. I understand that my primary professional responsibility and loyalty is to the welfare of my clients, and I shall work for the client irrespective of who actually pays his/her fees.
- I understand and support all that will assist clients to a better quality of life, greater freedom, and true independence.
- I understand that suffering is unique to a specific individual and not of some generalized or abstract suffering, such as might be found in the understanding of the disorder. I also understand that the action taken to relieve suffering must be uniquely suited to the suffering individual and not simply some universal prescription.
The NAADAC Approved Education Provider program highlights a continuing education provider’s commitment to quality education and dedication to excellence. The following list of NAADAC Approved Education Providers offers training and education for addiction professionals who are seeking to become certified for the National Certified Addiction Counselor, Level I (NCAC I), National Certified Addiction Counselor, Level II (NCAC II), Master Addiction Counselor (MAC) and/or Tobacco specialization certification, as well as to those who want to maintain their current certification.

The NAADAC Approved Education Provider emblem signifies that an organization has voluntarily opened its educational programs to examination by an independent body for content applicability to state and national certification standards and is approved by the National Certification Commission (NCC). This rigorous review process ensures that students receive a consistent, reliable and quality learning experience that is applicable to their careers and advances their understanding of addiction-related issues.

Those participating in programs offered by NAADAC Approved Education Providers are assured that the continuing education credits (CEs) provided for each course will be accepted toward national credentialing by the NCC, as well as many of the individual state licensing/certification bodies.

If you have any questions about the acceptance of NAADAC Approved Education Providers for your particular state licensing/certification body, please e-mail sbeckettmikell@naadac.org or call 800.548.0497.

Allied Addiction Services, LLC is an outpatient treatment resource that provides holistic treatment and is affiliated with local and national mental health, substance abuse and medical entities. We are trained in compliance with Department of Transportation (DOT) rules for assessment, treatment and reporting for commercial driving and hazardous materials specialties. These include evaluation and recommendation for return to safety sensitive duty. We also specialize with the dual diagnosed population. One can also see how treatment can be complicated for this population. Relapse occurs more often due to noncompliance with psychiatric medication. The dual population will often trade medication side effects for the horrors of street addiction simply to avoid loneliness. Allid’s treatment approach and solution come through patient and provider education focusing on inclusion into the mainstream of recovery and eventual society.

American Bar Association Commission on Lawyer Assistance Programs provides a model for assisting lawyers whose practices have been impaired by addictions and/or emotional health illnesses. Alcoholism, drug addiction and mental health problems are afflictions that affect a great number of professionals including lawyers, judges and law students. Reports now estimate that while 10 percent of the general population has problems with alcohol abuse, anywhere from 15 to 18 percent of the lawyer population battles the same problem. Because many lawyers and judges are overachievers who carry an enormous workload, the tendency to “escape” from daily problems through the use of drugs and alcohol is prevalent. The Commission’s primary goal is to advance the legal community’s knowledge of health and work/life balance.

Anger Management Training Institute offers practical, common sense, effective programs to help anger addicts break the cycle of rage. Rather than focusing on psychotherapeutic processes that can sometimes involve months or years of counseling, our clinically tested Anger Buster techniques provide clients with the skills and insights they need to begin changing their angry behavior patterns during the very first session. The Anger Management Training Institute offers a variety of courses to assist those with anger issues in confronting and controlling their anger. In each of these courses, participants will be guided in assessing their relationship to anger, provided with a set of tools and strategies to control their anger and assisted in designing a recovery program that will begin producing results immediately.

The Grief Recovery Institute is an internationally recognized authority on people’s reaction to loss and what to do about it. While death and divorce are what most people think about when they see the word “grief,” there are 40 other losses that cause grief. Primarily among those other losses are the changes in personal habits that accompany sobriety or abstinence. Learning to grieve and complete the relationship to the substance(s) of choice dramatically increases the probability of long-term sobriety. Drug and alcohol counselors can enhance their ability to help their clients by participation in The Grief Recovery Institute “4 Day Grief Recovery Certification Training Program.”

Apply for the NAADAC Approved Education Provider Program

The program offers three (3) flexible options to organizations and individual trainers who wish to apply for Providership status:

- OPTION 1

  Approval of unlimited training for a period of two (2) years.

  Description: This option applies to organizations, educational institutions, or individuals who are experienced training providers and offer three (3) or more workshops/conferences/courses/independent study programs per two-year period. This includes a single program that will be presented multiple times. The fee for this level of approval is $400 for two (2) years, $200 of which is a non-refundable processing fee.

- OPTION 2

  Provisional Provider Status

  Description: This option is designed for individuals or organizations never offered educational trainings before. Examples of eligible programs would be those that are just initiating training as part of their organizational mission or more established programs that have not previously collected participant evaluation forms. This status is granted for a one-year period. During this year, two (2) events will be audited. At the end of the year, the provisional provider must submit a report on the events offered during the previous 12 months. The form for this brief annual report will be sent to providers once they are approved. Submission of this report and successful completion of both audits will allow you or your organization to apply for permanent status via either Option 1 or 3. The fee for this level of approval is $200 for one (1) year, $100 of which is a non-refundable processing fee.

- OPTION 3

  Approval for a single training event

  Description: This option applies to organizations, educational institutions, or individuals who are experienced training providers and are offering only one (or are requesting approval for only one) training event; for example, an organization’s annual conference. An independent study course is not considered a single training event. The approval status is only active for three (3) months after the event date to allow for issuing or reissuing of certificates. The fee for this level of approval is $100, all of which is a non-refundable processing fee.

Training Requirements for NAADAC Approved Education Provider Courses

Regardless of the Provider Education status you or your organization is approved for, the training content of an Approved Education Provider course must be relevant to the work of addiction professionals. Potential providers are required to demonstrate this by the description of the course, goals and objectives, and the outline of the content how the course relates to alcohol/drug counseling and treatment. Courses must be in one of the following areas:

- Theoretical content related to scientific knowledge and/or or the application of scientific knowledge to practice in the field of addiction counseling and/or mental health; and/or
- Content related to direct and indirect patient/client care. Examples include group and individual counseling, family dynamics and counseling, mental health diagnoses, co-occurring disorders, HIV/AIDS/HepC, case management, documentation, ethics, etc.; and/or
- Content related to administration, management, education, research, working within managed care systems, developing a private practice, or other functional areas of addiction practice relating to indirect patient/client contact.

Examples of content that would not be acceptable include:

- Parenting or other programs that are designed for lay people.
- Liberal arts courses in music, art, philosophy, and others unrelated to the practice of addiction counseling.
- Orientation programs designed to familiarize employees with the policies and procedures of an institution.

All educational events under the Approved Education Provider program must meet the following standards:

- Training content must be current and designed to include recent developments in the subject of instruction. Independent study courses must be updated regularly. Upon renewal of your provider status, you will be required to submit documentation that offerings have been updated.
- Instructional objectives are to be stated in behavioral terms. The objectives must denote measurable attributes observable in the student completing the program. The objectives are to explain what proficiency the continuing education program participants should be able to demonstrate. Instructor’s goals are NOT behavioral objectives. For example: “To introduce the student to the community health system” is a goal of the instructor, not an instructional objective. An example of a behavioral objective is “Upon completion of this program, the counselor will be able to:
  - explain the role of community education related to the effects of drug usage;
  - assess the drug knowledge status of county employee groups;
  - identify and evaluate the drug and alcohol education needs within the county system.”
- Independent study courses must include an exam, to evaluate students’ completion of the course and learning objectives.

Benefits of being a part of the NAADAC Approved Education Provider Program

You or your organization can be approved as an educational provider and benefit in the following ways:

1. NAADAC Approved Education Providership is available in two convenient formats: two years unlimited training for $400 or one approved workshop for $100.

2. NAADAC Approved Education Providers receive a free listing in NAADAC’s “Approved Education Providers Directory of Education and Training,” which is published annually.

3. NAADAC Approved Education Providers receive added prestige and recognition due to NAADAC’s promotion of the Provider program.

4. You or your organization will demonstrate your commitment to educational quality for the future of the profession.

5. NAADAC Approved Education Providers receive significant discounts on NAADAC marketing opportunities.

6. NAADAC Approved Education Providers receive a free link from NAADAC’s Web site to your home page.

7. NAADAC Approved Education Providership is available in two convenient formats: two years unlimited training for $400 or one approved workshop for $100.

8. NAADAC Approved Education Providers receive a bi-monthly listing in Addiction Professional, NAADAC’s official magazine.

A national group of project directors unveiled a revolutionary approach for communities to help teens beat drugs, alcohol and crime. The national report covers ten pilot sites and illustrates a six-step model to affect change, reveals an innovative road map for communities and supplies step-by-step instructions with examples on implementation for this teen assistance model.

The Reclaiming Futures initiative is funded by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF). The report, entitled “How to Implement a Model to Get Youth Off Drugs and Out of Crime,” is based on six years of creating and testing novel ways to help teens entering the juvenile justice system who previously received little to no assistance with their alcohol or drug problems. The report addresses how community members, families, judges, probation officers and treatment specialists can improve the future of these youths.

The project model recommends screening and assessment of the severity of each teen’s drug and alcohol problems with an emphasis on providing expeditious access to service team coordinated treatment plans. Youths are simultaneously connected with employers, mentors and volunteer service projects.

An independent evaluation by the University of Chicago’s Chapin Hall Center for Children and the Urban Institute shows the model to be successful. Communities that tested the Reclaiming Futures model reported significant improvements in the areas of drug and alcohol treatment and juvenile justice. The model also demonstrated change in the way substance abuse and juvenile justice agencies cooperate to serve youth and their families.

“We have learned that there are concrete steps that can be taken to bring communities together to change the way they help teens in the system with drug and alcohol issues,” said Benjamin Chambers, project director for Reclaiming Futures Multnomah Embrace in Portland, Ore., who helped author the report. “For example, it’s important to identify a lead organization and champion, develop a common vision and mission, include community partners and youth, communicate and measure results to help the changes last.”

Implementation of the Reclaiming Futures model in will occur in 25 communities by 2009 with assistance provided by RWJF, the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention and the Kate B. Reynolds Charitable Trust.

Calling All Professionals
Board Service...What’s in it for You?
Diana Kamp, NAADAC Director of Affiliate & Conference Development

“Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world. Indeed, it is the only thing that ever has.” – Margaret Mead

April 2002, I received a call from the regional President of Association Executives asking if I would be interested in joining the Board of Directors. As a lifelong “behind the scenes” girl, it was a terrifying few moments. My immediate thoughts: how did she get my number? How am I going to get out of this one? Serve on a board? That’s not possible, it’s too much time, my work and family keeps me busy and I’m not qualified to serve on a board. Although, once I learned that my employer recommended me for the position, the only response I could muster was “Yes, I’d be honored!”

Today, NAADAC is asking you to consider board service. NAADAC and our affiliated states need you! NAADAC succeeds because of dedicated professionals who volunteer their time, their energy and their knowledge to help the addiction profession and the communities they serve. Whether serving as an officer, committee member, national certification commissioner or working part time on special projects, your expertise is in demand and We Want You!

As a Board Member or Committee Member:
• Your voice does count.
• Decisions made are vital to the profession.
• Lack of experience or education does not play a factor.
• What matters: You and your colleagues will help to enhance the profession.

There are a number of ways to get involved:
• National Certification Commissioners
  – Serve three year terms helping develop and refine the policies and certifications of the National Certification Commission (NCC).
  – Selection process begins in the summer of 2008.
• Members of NAADAC national committees
  – Mentoring
  – Political Action
  – Bylaws
  – Clinical Affairs/Research
• Affiliate Board Members
  – Serve as the President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, Members at Large or in another position on your state or chapter’s board of directors.
• Affiliate Committee Members.
  – Please check with your state president to see what positions are open.
  – Some common state committees are Membership, Conference, Bylaws, Public Policy or another topic area.

What’s in it for You?
• Sharing your energy, knowledge and enthusiasm.
• Networking with your colleagues.
• You will be stretched to the limit and love it.
• Building a stronger profession and making a difference.

Get involved today.
Please contact Diana Kamp at dkamp@naadac.org or 800.548.0497 x102 for more ideas or details on how to get involved.

NEWS FOR PROFESSIONALS

Continue reading on page 11
On February 9–11, 2009, after more than 33 years, SECAD will reinvent itself, and in doing so will change the way the addiction profession educates, instructs and informs those in our industry preventing, intervening, and treating addictive disorders.

For the first time SECAD will turn, not to one, but to the two most highly regarded addiction associations in the world, NAATP (The National Association of Addiction Treatment Providers) and NAADAC, the Association of Addiction Professionals, to develop a conference agenda that will work to educate and inspire counselors, trainers, medical professionals, and managers. Together, these two associations will use their vast experience, knowledge, and industry connections to develop sessions and workshops that will educate and inspire. Keynote presentations and panel discussions will highlight and debate key treatment strategies and the impact of new laws that will impact patient rights, insurance, and continuation of treatment.

SECAD 2009 will include a full range of educational opportunities including:

- General session keynote presentation from industry experts
- Panel discussions with recognized industry leaders from treatment, insurance, and government
- Pre-conference workshops to provide small setting highly interactive learning
- Pre-conference ethics lectures for counselors and clinicians needing as many as six continuing education credits
- Knowledge Track Sessions — allowing you to pick from three topic areas each educational hour

This conference is being developed to maximize education time while still providing networking and exhibitor time. By combining all of the educational opportunities attendees can receive credit for up to 20 CEU hours as well as an additional six Ethics continuing education credit hours.

SECAD will be held from February 9 – 11 at the Sheraton Atlanta Hotel, in Atlanta, Ga. For more information on the conference, please visit: www.SECAD09.com.

Advocacy in Action Conference, March 8–10, 2009
Whether Obama or McCain Wins the White House, NAADAC Members Will Make Addiction a Priority
Himilcon Inciarte, NAADAC Government Relations Intern

In seven short months, NAADAC members will gather to help shape the nation’s addiction policy at the Advocacy in Action conference. Co-sponsored with the National Association for Treatment Providers (NAATP) the summit will enable addiction professionals from across the nation to receive briefings on addiction-related legislation. Perhaps of equal importance, the three-day conference (Mar. 8–10) at the Crystal City Doubletree Hotel in Arlington, Va., will provide attendees with the opportunity to advise their members of Congress on the importance of addiction prevention, intervention, treatment and recovery support.

Lawmakers on Capitol Hill need to hear from addiction-focused professionals about the importance of government support for addiction treatment. The stigma and lack of knowledge surrounding addiction continues to prevent the government from taking action where it’s needed. Despite the incredible progress made toward ending insurance discrimination, much work remains to be done on issues like federal funding for addiction prevention, treatment and aftercare, workforce development and veterans’ health care.

If members of Congress do not know that addiction is treatable and that people can and do recover, they have no reason to address the problem. This is why active participation and advocacy are essential, especially from the professionals who, on a daily basis, help combat a disease that affects over 23 million Americans.

“As addiction professionals, we have a responsibility to educate the public — including those we’ve elected to Congress — about treatment and recovery. Advocacy in Action is so important because it gives us the tools and training to ensure that we are heard and valued by decision-makers,” says Gerry Schmidt, MA, MAC, NAADAC Public Policy Committee co-chair.

Advocacy in Action recognizes the important role of counselors in the advocacy process. The conference is designed to provide attendees with briefings on current legislation, trainings in advocacy techniques and the opportunity to put their new knowledge and skills into action by meeting with lawmakers.

In 2008, Advocacy in Action featured Rep. Jim Ramstad (R-Minn.), Rep. Danny Davis (D-Ill.), Addison Davis of the U.S. Department of Defense, in addition to numerous other nationally recognized leaders and advocates from both in and out of government.

“No matter who wins the election in November, NAADAC has to be ready to bring its message to Washington early on, so we have a powerful impact throughout the next administration,” says Daniel Guarnera, NAADAC Government Relations Liaison. “Advocacy in Action 2009 is the perfect opportunity to set the tone for the next four years.” Guarnera can be reached with any questions about the conference at daniel@naadac.org or 800.548.0497. Additional information will also be available at www.naadac.org.

Himilcon Inciarte is a rising junior at Williams College, where he is pursuing a double major in Anthropology and Mathematics. He is currently the Government Relations intern for NAADAC, the Association for Addiction Professionals.

Michigan

14,000 residents of the City of Detroit enter substance abuse treatment programs yearly. Nearly 70 percent of these individuals completing substance abuse treatment relapse. As a result of this high recidivism rate, the City of Detroit Bureau of Substance Abuse Prevention, Treatment and Recovery gave birth to the Detroit Recovery Project.

The Detroit Recovery Project, Inc. (DRP) strengthens, rebuilds and empowers communities affected by alcohol and drug addiction and helps other underserved populations. DRP supports individuals in identifying and resolving barriers to achieving a healthy and productive drug-free lifestyle. One of the primary roles of the Detroit Recovery Project is to address barriers to long-term recovery. One such barrier is family development. The recovering person returning to their home after treatment oftentimes has to address issues concerning his or her substance use as well as their on-going sobriety in relation to their family. In order to support the recovering individual in facilitating this process, the DRP has implemented an innovative, best-practice program designed for families of recovering persons. The Strengthening Recovering Families Program (SRFP) aims to provide family support and skills training to increase cohesiveness and to strengthen the family unit. As a result of this program, risk factors for substance abuse, depression, violence and aggression as well as school failure will have decreased and family resiliency will have increased.

Washington, D.C.

The Johnson Institute brings a long tradition of activism by people with long term addiction recovery to reduce the barriers to wellness for all those afflicted and affected by alcohol and drug problems. Renowned for Dr. Vernon Johnson’s pioneering intervention practices, the Johnson Institute today executes a three-part strategy to engage society in a view of addiction disease from the recovery perspective. First, the Institute mobilizes individuals and families with successful recovery experiences to become active, effective voices for change. Knowing the power of story, the Institute equips these activists with education, tools and resources to fight for practice and policy change. Second, the Institute targets local systems and tools. We train activists to organize the recovery movement locally, educate local opinion leaders, establish local congregational team ministries and establish local funding resources. Third, we teach ways to merge passion and science to produce moving and effective messages to move people, institutions and society to proven and effective solutions to America’s addiction epidemic. We believe science points the way. We believe faith overcomes.
