THE EIGHT COUNSELOR SKILLS GROUP IN THE NATIONAL CERTIFICATION COMMISSION FOR ADDICTION COUNSELORS PROCESS

I. INTAKE AND SCREENING

Client intake is a process of collecting client demographic and biopsychosocial/spiritual and other pertinent formation. It is tied to the screening process in that both processes involve the preliminary gathering and sorting of information. Screening tools are used to determine if an individual has a substance abuse problem. If yes, then it is appropriate to perform a full clinical assessment/ evaluation. The intake, screening and assessment session can take two to three hours and is conducted in a secure and confidential area. The intake itself is more of an administrative process used to determine a client's entrance into a program or referral to a more appropriate program.

II. CLINICAL ASSESSMENT

The primary purpose of a clinical assessment is to develop a full picture of the client's substance abuse patterns and determine general treatment needs. The second function is to initiate the treatment process if doing so is in the client's best interests. It is critical for the client to be engaged in the intake and screening process. Together, client and counselor choose what behavioral changes the client is ready and willing to make after reviewing the assessment outcomes and counselor recommendations for treatment options.

III. TREATMENT PLAN

The treatment plan is an outline for treatment and services based on the client's specific needs developed from the intake, screening and assessment process. It is a blueprint, a design and a projected strategy individualized to each client. Each client must have an individualized treatment plan based on an inventory of his or her strengths and limitations/disabilities.

IV. COUNSELING THERAPIES AND TECHNIQUES

The interactive process of providing therapies and techniques to treat a client to live their life healthy and self-determined. The counselor implements the most appropriate types of therapies and techniques using a strong theoretical base as a means of assisting each client in gaining intrinsic motivation in order to effectively follow a path toward successful recovery. Counseling services include: individual, group, family, and crisis intervention counseling.

____ V. DOCUMENTATION

Documentation and record-keeping begin with the first point of contact with the client, electronic or face-to-face. Documentation continues throughout the course of intake, assessment, evaluation, treatment planning, treatment services, referral, case management and finally discharge and continuing care planning.

____ VI. CASE MANAGEMENT

Case management is a coordinated approach to the delivery of health, substance use disorders, mental health disorders and social services. Case management helps link clients with appropriate services to help them achieve their treatment plan goals. . It is a mechanism for helping clients navigate the fragmented social services system. As a client’s treatment moves from one level of care to another, the case management process ensures needed resources. Consultation and case review by a clinical supervisor is a vital component of case management.

____ VII. DISCHARGE AND CONTINUING CARE

Discharge and continuing care planning is the process of planning treatment and/or other support activities designed to maintain the gains achieved in the treatment and recovery process in which the client has already been actively engaged. Discharge planning occurs as the treatment relationship enters the final stage with the client.

A continuing care plan is a documented plan of action developed before discharge or transfer to another level of care. The plan’s purpose is to assist the client served in sustaining the progress that has been achieved by linking the client with supportive resources in the environment to which the client is being returned.

____ VIII. LEGAL, ETHICAL AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

This skill group includes federal, state and local legislation governing the counselor/client relationship and adherence to the national code of ethics for addiction counselors. Counselor knowledge and competencies are vital components of a counselor’s ability to provide quality of care and ensure appropriate and professional care. Professional development includes self-awareness and evaluation and an attitude of “life-long learning.” Continual education of new theories and practices along with the science of addiction is required.
